

Panel discussion to be held on climate change

<http://www.agriview.com/content/tncms/live/>

Print Email

September 30, 2014 8:11 am

(0) Comments

The Wisconsin Potato and Vegetable Growers Association (WPVGA) is pleased to co-sponsor a panel discussion on climate change and Wisconsin agriculture on Oct. 11 in Stevens Point.

Others co-sponsoring the event include the Central Wisconsin Chapter of Citizens' Climate Lobby, The Stevens Point Area League of Women Voters, the Interfaith Community for the Earth, Central Rivers Farmshed, the Wisconsin Farmers Union, the Aldo Leopold Audubon Society and several churches.

The panel will be held on Oct 11 at 10 a.m. at the Pinery Room of the Portage County Library in Stevens Point.

Speakers will include Justin Isherwood, Plover potato farmer and author; Tony Schumacher, WAOW meteorologist; Stan Gruszynski, Wisconsin director of rural development; and Brad Pfaff, state executive director of the Farm Services Agency.

The event will be free and open to the general public.